Art Unit: 3682

Claim 2 is objected to because of the following informalities: in line 6, "isde" should be changed to --side--. Appropriate correction is required.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 5-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 5 recites that the "tool reference plane" is provided on the inner peripheral surface of the outer raceway. It is unclear how a "plane" can be provided on the inner peripheral surface, which necessarily requires a cylindrical surface, not a plane surface. Similarly claim 6 recites a tapered surface as the tool reference plane, which contradicts the inherent nature of a plane surface.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-6 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ito et al. Japan 2002-206542.

Note that even though product-by-process claim limitations are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. See MPEP § 2113.

Art Unit: 3682

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 7 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ito et al. Japan 2002-206542. With respect to claim 7, the degree of taper on the inner peripheral surface would have been an obvious matter of engineering design. With respect to claim 11, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to utilize the teachings of Ito with other known types of bearings, including that of a cylindrical roller bearing with a ribbed outer race.

Claims 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ito et al. Japan 2002-20642 as applied to claims 1-5 above, and further in view of Mizutani et al.

Mizutani et al discloses a deep groove rolling contact bearing protected against electrolytic corrosion by an insulating film made of polyphenylene sulfide resin. With respect to claim 9, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Ito such that the insulating film is composed of other known insulating films, including that of polyphenylene sulfide resin, as taught and suggested by Mizutani et al. With respect to claim 10, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize the teachings of Ito with other known types of bearing assemblies requiring insulating films, including that of a deep groove ball bearing as taught and suggested by Mizutani et al.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
